The Valleys is back!

And so, therefore, is Anna Kelle!

DIRECT YOUR

telly boxes to MTV this evening, chaps, because the mother of all reality shows is back! Hide mum's eyes and hog-tie grandad back up in the cellar as Natalee Harris, Jenna Jonathan and the grand mater and mentor Anna Kelle will be turning our airwaves "Cardiff blue" again!

For season three, they're taking their show on the road, with a series of "Valleywood Nights", which may well come to a town near you. Be afraid, be very chuffing afraid (while enjoying these brand new and exclusive pics of the charming AK!)

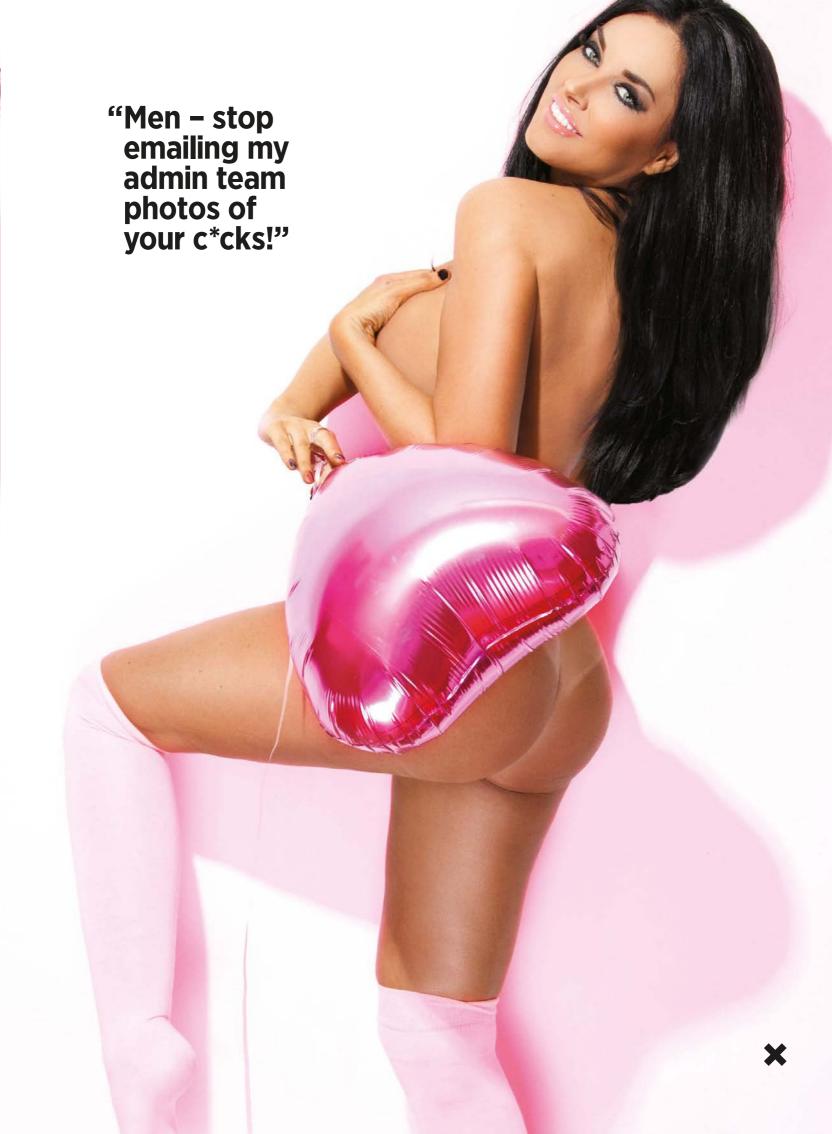

Rocket-powered rig is nearly 50 per cent faster than a Veyron!

HAVE YOU got some milk needs delivering, maybe a crate of Heineken you've just got to get to its destination a quarter of a mile away and 6.5 seconds to do it in? Well Shockwave, the world's fastest jet-powered truck, has got your back! Powered by three jet engines supplying 36,000bhp, it'll hit 376mph! That's 108mph faster than a Bugatti Veyron Supersport – quite an achievement for a vehicle about as aerodynamic as Jeremy Clarkson. And half as noisy!

The supporting cast members!

The office fivea-side team had seen better days

The Guardians meet all sorts of fun, alien chums, in a spot-the-famousperson blockbuster cast list!

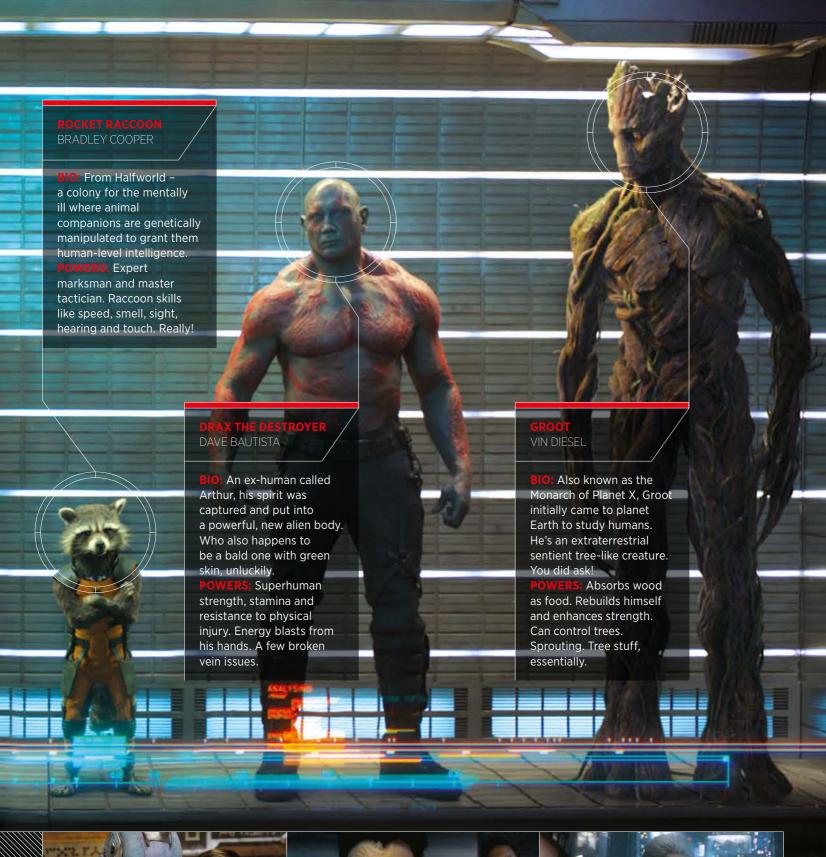

KORATH THE PURSUER

Played by Djimon Hounsou, Korath The Pursuer is augmented with cyber technology to give himself superhuman powers. He's an alien bounty hunter.

RONAN THE ACCUSER

This is the only glimpse we get (above, right) of main baddie Ronan The Accuser (Lee Pace). He must be proper hard as he's lifting Drax clean off his feet!

NEBULA

Played by our very own Karen Gillan, who bravely shaved her bonce for the role, Nebula is a cyborg mercenary who works for Ronan The Accuser.

RHOMANN DEY

John C Reilly plays Rhomann Dey, the "Agent Coulson" of Guardians. He heads up the Nova Corps, an intergalactic band of interstellar policemen.

HE COLLECTOR

First seen in the bonus scene of the last Thor movie, Benicio Del Toro plays the mysterious Taneleer Tivan, a powerful being who, unsurprisingly, collects stuff.

McLaren's new supercar!

Is the 207mph, 641bhp McLaren 650S an über-MP4-12C or a bargain P1?

- Pencilled in for unveiling at next week's Geneva Motor Show, images of the McLaren 650S leaked, so McLaren has broken cover with its new motor. Named after its power output in PS (it's 641 in BHP), this is a midengined masterpiece that costs £20k more than the 616bhp MP4-12C, but shares more facial features with the £860k hybrid P1 hypercar.
- Borrowing those McLaren LED headlights from the P1 makes the 650S instantly more handsome than the 12C. Below the new front bumper is a splitter that increases downforce to give a greater steering feel.
- Behind the front wheels are door blades to direct air from the edges of the front splitter, increasing front-end grip and balance, not forgetting the unique side intakes behind the doors that feed the large radiators with cool air. In true McLaren fashion, there's a lot of carbon fibre.
- Although it shares a lot of its oily parts with the 12C, McLaren insists 25 per cent of the 650S's components are different to make the 650 more fun, usable and more "drifty". It's supposed to take everything the 12C did to the next ladder rung.
- Yes, there's a 3.8-litre twin turbo V8, but it differs from the 12C with revised engine management software and modified cylinder heads and pistons. A bigger torque boost – which peaks at 500lbft – arrives between 3,000 and 7,000rpm.

So 62mph will flash past in 3 seconds, 125mph a second faster, to a 207mph red line.

- The airbrake is designed to reduce drag on straight tarmac but pop up to create downforce on twisties.
- So the P1 has sold out and if the 12C doesn't seem cool enough, save your dosh and lay down £190k on a 650S.
 Or wait a few weeks for the open-roofed Spider.

LETTER OF THE WEEK!

Well jel

Dear Nuts, I left this for one of my fellow chefs one morning. He didn't think it was funny.

DAMON JENKIN

At least he had a nice dessert to tuck into to make himself feel better.

And the secret ingredient is...

Dear Nuts,
I don't think I'll ever be drinking this again. Too salty.
MATT PUDAN via email

It's why we switched to Tango.

Super silly

Dear Nuts, I think this is a tad questionable.

GORDON via email

Yes, even we can tell you that's Spider-Man. Duh!

STEALTH BUMMING CORNER!

"This is one of the lads at work. He's just enjoying bumming the warehouse manager while he saws up some wood."

Urine trouble

Dear Nuts, I had to laugh at this hair salon's funny name!

STEVE BEATO

Whatever you do, don't ask them for shampoo as you'll more than likely get real poo instead.

Win! £100 cash!

Readers, here's your chance to get your handsome mush in the magazine – and get paid for doing it! Just send your deliciously daft pics, pimped pets and Camera Phone Cuties to nutsletters@ipcmedia.com. The sender of the week's best letter wins a fantastic cash prize of £100! Editor's decision is final. Terms and conditions on page 60 apply.

Dog on the bog

Dear Nuts

This was in the highlights of the South American football.

JOHN BARNES London

This is what the British game needs more of. That, and topless cheerleaders.

Vs the *Nuts*Question Bucket!

The Geordie comic on underpants, Nando's and orgies... in that order!

THE RULES are simple. We fill our bucket with ridiculous questions, then a famous type picks them out at random and has to answer them!

Can Geordies really cope with cold better than folk from other regions?

Being a Geordie means my skin is essentially a coat. I can go topless anywhere. My nipples are like weapons.

You're on tour right now. Do you have enough pairs of pants for the trip?

I normally don't, but I told three different people that I wanted underpants for Christmas, so I've got a full-on surplus now. I'm absolutely blinging it in underpants. Don't speak to me about underpants. I'm literally wearing them once then chucking them away.

Do you feel bad about getting kicked off Soccer AM for being rude?

I got carried away. I implied that a horse was having anal intercourse with someone's dad. I got sent off, and had to stand in the corner by myself like a child. Kammy came in and I said, "Hello, I'm a really big fan, my name's Chris." He played it cool, like he didn't know who I was. Then he couldn't hold it in and said, "Chris Ramsey, the guy who thinks it's OK to say 'bummed' on Saturday morning telly." He walked off and I thought, "You're the biggest legend ever!"

Have you ever edited your own Wikipedia page?

Actually, someone's fking changed it again, and it wasn't me. The day I went on Twitter and went, "I've got a Wikipedia page," it was instantly unrecognisable. Someone changed it to say I'd won a competition called "The Geordie Hair Flick". At least 12 journalists asked me about it. Ridiculous!

On Celebrity Juice, have you ever seen Keith Lemon break character?

Only once. Keith dropped out of character because Corey Feldman [American actor] was being a pain in the arse and needed dealing with.

How often are you mistaken for England U20 Assistant Head Coach Chris Ramsey?

When he got appointed, I got loads of nice tweets going, "Congratulations on the new job." I imagine no one says to him, "When's your next gig?"

What's the worst excuse a family member or friend has used for not coming to one of your shows?

My friend said he'd torn the latissimus dorsi muscle in his back. He was very specific about what he'd done. But a few days later, he went to the Manchester-Sunderland away match and I know for a fact that he was fine.

You get some stick for having a big head. Did all your body grow at the same speed?

What an amazing question. If you ever interview the cast of Game Of Thrones, don't ask Peter Dinklage that. In fact, don't ask anyone with any body growth issue. I think so. Did it? My nose took a bit of a fking growth spurt. I only realised recently I had a big nose.

Who's the most famous person you've had a wee next to?

I stood between Gary Lineker and Alan Shearer when I was younger at Sunderland's Stadium of Light. I couldn't go, because I was starstruck. I was essentially just stood there holding my knob.

As a young comic, do you get many groupies backstage?

No. We're really boring, comedians. There are no groupies. I've been to Ed Sheeran gigs and there are loads of his mates and footballers and goodlooking people backstage. At a comedian's gig, there's a spare pair of socks and a fking kettle.

THE RESIDENCE OF THE PROPERTY OF THE PROPERTY

The bouffants! The dodgy 'taches! Martin Jol's hair! It's an entire album of top boss hilarity!

ARSENE WENGER

Just to explain, Nancy is the club that Arsene used to play for. The sticker album's not being mean to him because he has a bouffant.

MICK McCARTHY

Mick's nickname among his clubs' fans is "Super Mick." It's fair to say that this nickname wasn't coined in reference to his moustache.

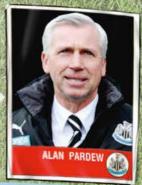

DAVID MOYES

You're going to have to write your own pithy caption for this one, readers, as we're too busy wetting ourselves laughing.

ALAN PARDEW

Some players wasted a fortune on gambling, others blew thousands on wine and women. Alan's vice while he was a footballer? Hair gel. And lots of it.

CHRIS HUGHTON

Apparently, it was once the fashion among footballers to have more hair on one side of their head than the other.

OLE GUNNAR SOLSKJAER

Ole hasn't always been a fortysomething football manager who looks about 14. Once, he was a twentysomething football player who looked about ten.

MANUEL PELLEGRINI

We'll be honest - the sight of Manuel in his funky strip was the inspiration for this spread. That collar! Those tumbling locks!

PAUL LAMBERT

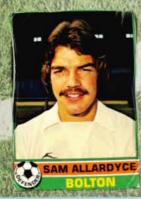

Notable for the toothiness of his grin, and the fact that Paul seems to have at least two separate hairstyles vying for attention on the same head.

GUSTAVO POYET

Fact: due to a pact made with the devil, Gus hasn't aged a single day since the first photo was taken.

SAM ALLARDYCE

In this photo, Sam looks slightly puzzled, as if he has caught sight of his own reflection and thought, "What the heck am I playing at with this hair?"

PEPE MEL

West Brom gaffer Pepe will also be appearing in our forthcoming feature, "When Managers Had Hair".

TIM SHERWOOD

Tim evidently had the same approach to hair styling as Alan Pardew, with highlights thrown in for good measure.

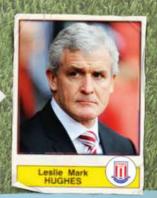

MARTIN JOL

We know. We're as astonished as you are. Did you know that Martin has two brothers whose names are Dick and Cock? He does!

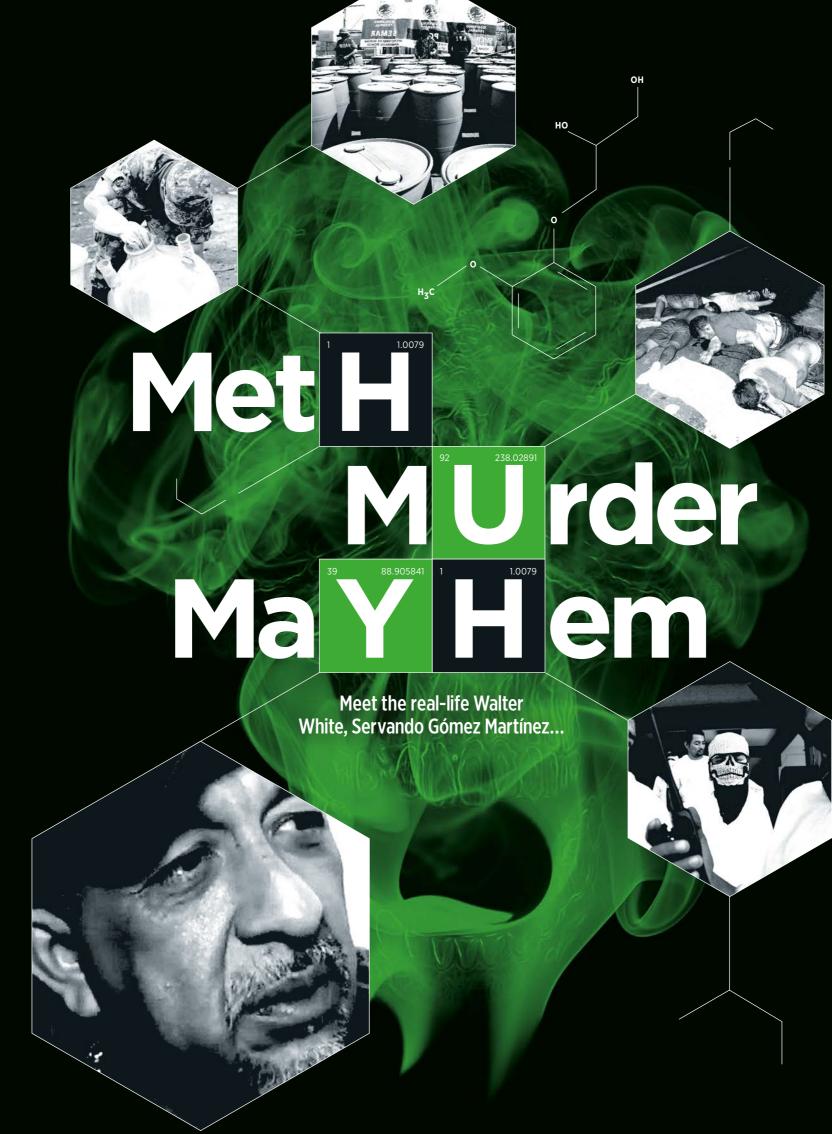

MARK HUGHES

Somehow, the word "perm" doesn't do justice to what's nestling on Sparky's head here. Proof that playing abroad can change a person.

BRUARY 2014. The scene is like the aftermath of a medieval battle. On the pavement of an ordinary street in the Mexican town of Zacan lie four severed human heads – a warning from a feared drug cartel to the vigilantes who seek to curtail its activities. The cartel, one of many in Mexico, is Los Caballeros Templarios (the Knights Templar), led not by a traditional gangster, but a former school teacher who claims his organisation is more interested in social justice than selling narcotics. His gang's activities are just another example of how mired in murder and terror the country has become as the drug gangs reach new levels of barbarity.

Knights Templar

The Knights Templar cartel was formed by Servando Gómez Martínez and Enrique Plancarte Solís, two members of the La Familia Michoacana cartel, which disbanded after its leader was killed by police following a two-day gun battle.

However, Even though the Knights Templar make their money from selling crystal meth and marijuana, they claim to have the welfare of the people at their heart. It recently released a statement proclaiming: "We want to take care of the community. We could be bad possibly because some of our guys don't behave themselves. But we don't want people from outside to humiliate and fk our people."

Real-life Mr White

It is Servando Gómez Martínez who is the feared kingpin masterminding the mayhem – a former teacher, he now makes his money by selling drugs, just like the fictional Walter White from Breaking Bad. "El Profe" (The Professor) claims that the Knights Templar protect the citizens of Michoacana from other cartels. "I want to live to serve my people," he says. "I want my people to be in peace and, also, we want to demand the federal government pay the attention necessary to establish rule of law."

The severed heads discovered in Zacan suggest otherwise, though, and such brutal scenes of violence are only increasing the tension as yet more vigilante groups spring up. Now backed by the state, one such group entered the Knights Templar stronghold of Apatzingan earlier this month. Vigilante leader Hipolito Mora said, "We need to enter Apatzingan, which is the heart of the whole region and, as we all know, of vital importance for the criminal organisation." But the Knights Templar claim the vigilantes are just a front for the rival New Generation cartel of neighbouring Jalisco state.

Of course, at the root of all this violence is an increasingly lucrative drug market. Mexico is a vital distribution hub for South American drugs on their way to be sold in the US. Indeed,

Suspected cartel

the trafficking of narcotics through Mexico is currently worth an estimated $13bn a year, with around 90 per cent of all the cocaine consumed in the US arriving through Mexico. Little wonder, then, that the Mexican authorities have placed a 30 million peso (£1.3m) bounty for fugitive Martínez's capture, along with other co-founders of the Knights Templar cartel. It's not all one way, though: a US Senate report said that of the 29,000 guns recovered in Mexico in 2009/10, two thirds originated in America.

Failed drug war

In 2006, Mexico President Felipe Calderón deployed 50,000 soldiers to fight the cartels, a disastrous strategy that kicked off an upsurge in violence that has spread all over the country, with over 70,000 murdered.

The two largest drug gangs are Los Zetas and the Sinaloa cartel. Los Zetas are, according to the US government, the "most technologically advanced, sophisticated, and dangerous cartel operating in Mexico." While the Sinaloa gang prefer to use bribery to gain control of areas, Los Zetas specialise in violence, including the San Fernando massacre of 2011, in which 193 people were murdered.

A vital way of funding the cartels is through kidnapping. The main targets are middle class Mexicans whose families have to stump up fivefigure sums to see their relatives alive again. In the Knights Templarcontrolled area of Michoacana, one resident said, "Kidnapping is a crime that destroys people, that destroys communities. There's only so much people will take before they explode." The vigilantes are proof of this, but Servando Gómez Martínez won't lose his grip on Mexico's underworld without more bloodshed.

Lucy Collett

i Lucy! How are you enjoying today's Great British Boob-Off? It's great! I'm overwhelmed by how massive Stacey and Joey's boobs are. I was worried the photographer wouldn't be able to capture all the boobs with just one camera!

What's new with you?

I went to the launch of the new Call Of Duty. It's so much fun! I'm also really into this cool indie game called Don't Starve. It's set in a weird Tim Burton-ish world and the goal is basically to keep your character alive for as long as possible. I've kept mine alive for 22 days.

Ace! You were flying the flag for Nuts on The Alan Titchmarsh Show last month. Does a career in telly beckon?

It was crazy! I was so nervous, but Alan was such a cool guy. I want to do Come Dine With Me! I'd make chicken wings. You can find out everything about a person by the way they eat a wing. If they pick it apart with a knife and fork, they're up themselves. If they use their fingers, they're a laugh!

What's the weirdest pic you've ever been sent on Snapchat?

Someone sent me a Snapchat of their knob and edited to make it look like a reptile's tongue! Another made his into an elephant's trunk and another wrote my name on his helmet. That must've hurt...

Blimey! So what does a bloke have to do to really impress you?

I must confess, I judge a guy by his footwear. When I see a bloke in a cool pair of Nikes, I think, "This guy's got game." I don't like it when guys wear those big hiking shoes with jeans! But when I see a man all smartly dressed, I become a woman obsessed and have to talk to him.

Holly Peers

i Holly! What's new with you?

I just got back from Las Vegas!
I was working out there at a military convention, so I had a lot of fun hanging out in skimpy outfits while Americans talked about their guns.

God bless 'em. What was the maddest thing that happened?

We were at a massive nightclub called Surrender, and there was a guy throwing himself around in the middle of the dancefloor. He was totally zoned out – I've never seen anything like it in my life. The bouncers said he'd been going there for years doing the exact same thing every week! People were taking photos like he was some kind of tourist attraction.

Would you ever take part in a reality TV show about you and the "Glamily"?

Yes, but I'd be anxious about how I'd come across. I'm quite outspoken and dry-witted, and some people can take that the wrong way. But I loved watching Helen Flanagan on I'm A Celebrity... Get Me Out Of Here! She's hot! I'd definitely act like her if I went into the jungle. We're both northern and I totally relate to how she acts and the funny things she comes out with.

Who are feistier – northern babes or southern belles?

I used to think there was a massive difference between northern and southern people – then I met India and Rosie! I really thought it was just us lot who loved to go out, have a drink and get crazy – but those two are worse than me! When we were in Las Vegas, I never once heard Rosie complain about being tired or anything. I don't know where she gets the energy from. I thought only Manchester girls could go like that!

Stacey Poole

ey Stacey! How was today's big booby blowout?
Amazing! It's a great excuse to get into trouble with the other Nuts girls.

Agreed! You look remarkably tanned considering it's February. What's your secret? I've been on holiday. Actually, I've been on about five holidays – sorry everyone! Some were breaks with my lovely friends and some were sexy photo shoots.

Do you get recognised when you're out and about?

No, believe it or not! I come from a really small village in Yorkshire and everyone knows I'm a model so no one really talks about it. But whenever I'm on holiday, lots of blokes recognise me. A few months ago I was in Ibiza and a fella saw me and shouted, "I know you from Nuts!" He was lovely and we had a photo together. It was especially nice because it doesn't happen at home.

We know you're into your fashion. What's a real fashion faux pas for you?

It's been said a million times, but socks with sandals! Very bad times, truly appalling. Another thing that all women agree on is that if you wear a suit, it has to be a matching one. If it doesn't match, you'll probably end up looking like our mate Keith Lemon!

Good advice! What telly shows are you into right now?

It's such a guilty pleasure, but I loved Benefits Street.

Facebook was ten years old the other week. What's the most irritating thing about it?

That's easy – when people post their whole life online. It winds me up so much. Why do they think it's a good idea to write a status like, "I'm bored"? No one bloody cares!

Joey Fisher

i Joey! You've come from Cardiff for today's festival of boobs, right?
Of course! I had to leave the house this morning at half past three! I had breakfast at McDonald's on my own. Sad!

We've all been there! Last time we spoke, you were texting in your sleep. Do you have any other bizarre nocturnal habits? Oh god, yes! When I'm dreaming, sometimes I get up and walk around the house. Once, I was fast asleep and somehow managed to get out of bed and turn my lights on. It was quite freaky! Someone should film me at night to find out what's going on because I honestly don't have a clue.

Amazing! Are you a bit overwhelmed by the combined mass of all the boobs today?

Everyone looks so gorgeous. I think it would be way more intimidating if someone didn't know what was going on and walked in by accident. "Oh god, look at the size of these boobs!" They might need to sit down.

Indeed! What's the last thing that made you LOL?

One of my mates sent me a link the other day to a dirty website that was using a picture of me on one of their adverts. They must have pinched it from Google or something, the swines! It was so awkward because my friend then had to explain what he was doing on that site in the first place. Research, of course!

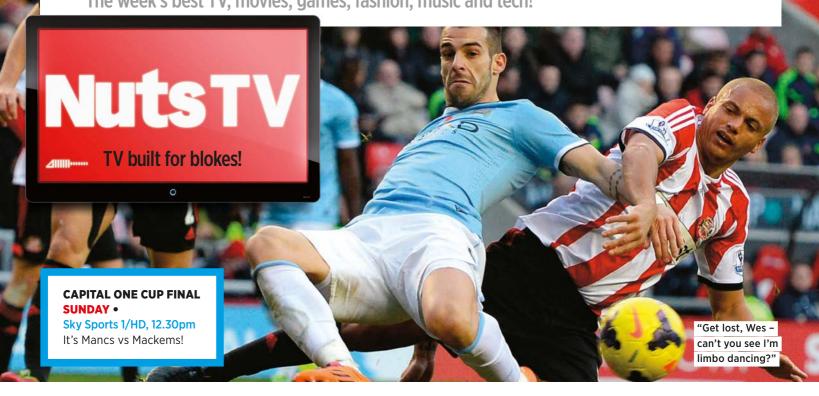

Who's your girl crush right now?

I'd have to say Jen Selter. She's this incredible American fitness model on Instagram and her bum is absolutely perfect! She has millions of fans around the world and lots of celebs follow her, including Kim Kardashian. I wish I had a behind as good as hers, I really do!

Nuts STUFF

The week's best TV, movies, games, fashion, music and tech!

Friday 28 February

Vikings

LOVEFILM • Any time

Like Spartacus and Game Of Thrones, the first series of Vikings delivered lots of cool battle scenes and gore – more than enough to ensure our interest stretches to series two, the first ep of which is available today on the subscription site. The battle begins between Ragnar and King Horik's forces against Jarl Borg.

West Indies vs England

SKY SPORTS 2/HD • 1pm

The first in a three-match one-day series sees England with a chance to restore pride after the disaster Down Under. West Indies blow hot and cold and even home advantage shouldn't sway it their way. But then, we thought we'd win the Ashes...

Duck Quacks Don't Echo

SKY1/HD • 10pm

Lee Mack hosts the comedy panel game, with actor Stephen Graham, TV unfunnywoman Miranda Hart and Stephen Ayaode discussing notable facts of useless trivia. Oh, and duck quacks do echo, it's just one of those "facts" that isn't true.

ITV4/HD • 11.25pm

Jack Nicholson goes slowly bonkers in a remote, haunted hotel in one of the scariest films of all time. Probably not one to watch with the missus!

Saturday 1 March

Southampton vs Liverpool

SKY SPORTS 1/HD • 5pm

We're off to St Mary's, where Liverpool will be looking for revenge on a Southampton side who surprised them by taking all three points at Anfield, sneaking a 1-0 victory. Expect Saints boss Mauricio Pochettino to look about 15, like he normally does. ****

True Detective

SKY ATLANTIC/HD • 9pm

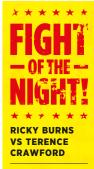

With top-notch writing and the genius pairing of Matthew McConaughey and Woody Harrelson as detectives on the hunt for a killer in 1995 Louisiana, this seems destined to be one of the most talked-about shows of 2014. After last week's smouldering opener, the intrigue continues with a lead taking the pair to a trailer-park brothel.

Stewart Lee's Comedy Vehicle

BBC TWO/HD • 10.15pm

If you ever thought Jack Dee was the grumpiest comic on the circuit, you should get a load of this sourpuss. Lee's mix of stand-up and sketches are the perfect antidote to all that Mrs Brown's Boys-style rubbish that's taking over telly these days.

SKY SPORTS 2/ HD • 7pm

The Scottish scrapper faces the undefeated American. Plus, Ch5/HD at 10pm!

Sunday 2 March

Man City vs Sunderland

SKY SPORTS 1/HD • 12.30pm

The first major silverware of the season is up for grabs in the Capital One Cup final, and Man City are favourites, who knows what effect their lame capitulation at home to Barcelona in the Champions League might have on their squad?

Top Gear

BBC TWO/HD • 8pm

Richard Hammond visits Abu Dhabi this week, where he's arrested for shoplifiting and has both his hands cut off, leaving it up to James May to wipe his bum with a silk hanky. Only joking! Instead he drives the Porsche 918 Spyder there. Also, Breaking Bad dude Aaron Paul goes behind the wheel of the reasonably priced car.

The 86th Annual Academy Awards

SKY MOVIES OSCARS/HD • 1.30am

It's the annual ceremony featuring overblown acceptance speeches from the winners, and insincere grins from the losers. Tipped to be showered with the famous statuettes? 12 Years A Slave, Gravity and Captain Phillips. Alex Zane presents the coverage.

DRAGONS' DEN

BBC TWO/HD ·

Silly pitches, Deborah Meaden looking terrifying, Duncan Bannatyne saying, "It's not for me, so for that reason, I'm out!' Yep, they're all here. Fun though

8 Out Of 10 Cats

CHANNEL 4/HD • 10pm

"Does anyone

smell gas?"

Sean Lock, Jon Richardson and Jimmy Carr are perfectly good company to keep when you can't be bothered to go to the pub and you're fed up of watching Hot Fuzz on ITV2 for the 93rd time. It's always top-notch telly, but we'd love to see the stuff they have to edit out! Jack Dee and Example guest this week.

Gravity

SKY BOX OFFICE/HD • From 6am

We're going to play devil's advocate and suggest that Alfonso Cuarón's thriller, in which Sandra Bullock and George Clooney are cast adrift in space, isn't actually that incredible, once you get past the special effects. It's a bit cheesy and there's practically zero storyline. Worth a look for the aforementioned FX though.

SKY1/HD • 9pm

We were chuffed that Chris O'Dowd and his sidekick got a second series of this sweet and proper funny show. This week's episode's very laughheavy as Johnny Vegas guest stars, and Martin and Padraic build a "ghost ship" for Halloween. As you'd expect, a daft adventure ensues, and it all goes a bit wrong. Brilliantly bonkers!

Tuesday 4 March

New issue on sale today!

Jackass Presents: Pramface Bad Grandpa

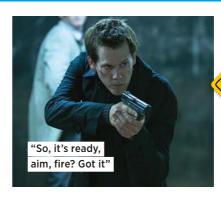

SKY BOX OFFICE/HD • From 6am

Johnny Knoxville's great as newly widowed 86-year-old Irving Zisman, surprising and shocking unsuspecting members of the public while taking his grandson on a road trip to reunite him with his no-good dad. It's Jackass meets a plotline. Excellent!

BBC THREE/HD • 10pm

The entirely likeable comedy following the relationship of a young couple being held together by an unplanned baby always brings the laughs. As the third series continues, Laura finds it difficult living with her dad, and Jamie takes on casual work as a painter and decorator. Charming, intelligent and fun.

The Following

SKY ATLANTIC/HD • 10pm

The first season of the series following alcoholic FBI agent Kevin Bacon on the trail of a serial killer tailed off badly after a decent start. While the second season has hardly made for essential viewing, it's still entertaining enough, if you like daft plots and gratuitous violence by the shedload. And we do!

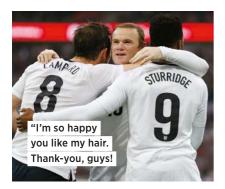

SCHOOL OF HARD

DAVE/HD • 10pm

We like Dara. We don't like this quiz show that gets celebrities to solve brain-botheringly tough maths problems though

Wednesday 5 March

England vs Denmark

ITV/HD • 7.30pm

International friendlies tend to be a tad on the pointless side, but this game sees Roy Hodgson taking his first opportunity to look at the players who will (and won't) be joining him in Rio. Expect Southampton full-back Luke Shaw to be given a first run-out.

Line Of Duty

BBC TWO/HD • 9pm

The star-studded (well, Keeley Hawes is in it) series continues with AC-12 desperately trying to find out who's leaking from inside the department. Elsewhere, Deputy Chief Constable Dryden's feeling the finger of suspicion pointing in his direction, and Lindsay (the aforementioned Ms Hawes) is in danger. Gripping stuff!

Inside No 9

BBC TWO/HD • 10pm

"Wow" pretty much sums up our feelings towards this fantastic series from Psychoville and League Of Gentleman blokes Reece Shearsmith and Steve Pemberton. It's dark, funny and genius. This week's penultimate episode is about a proper luvvie actor who's universally hated. We can't wait to see what misfortune befalls him!

DAVE/HD • 10pm

"You know when people go, 'You know why kids are violent? Rid pop music!' Rid iculous. You don't blame chill-out music for lazy fkers!"

Thursday 6 March

PDC Darts

SKY SPORTS 2/HD • 7pm

It's round five of the Premier League from Exeter, where the match of the night sees Adrian Lewis attempting to find the magic formula to derail the rampant Dutchman Michael van Gerwen (above). Elsewhere, Peter Wright and his mad hair clash with Robert Thornton, and Phil Taylor tries to dispose of Gary Anderson.

Battleground Brothers

NATIONAL GEOGRAPHIC/HD • 8pm

This new series follows a group of US Marines preparing to leave Afghanistan. Before they can return, though, they have one last job – to destroy an enemy stronghold in Helmand Province under constant attack from the enemy. Sobering.

Suits

DAVE/HD • 9pm

The aptly named drama (it's about a college dropout blagging his way through life at a top New York law firm, and about as smart as the most expensive Savile Row three-piece) continues with a flashback episode. Mike is accepted by Harvard but soon finds himself kicked out, while Harvey guits the DA's office.

RAKE

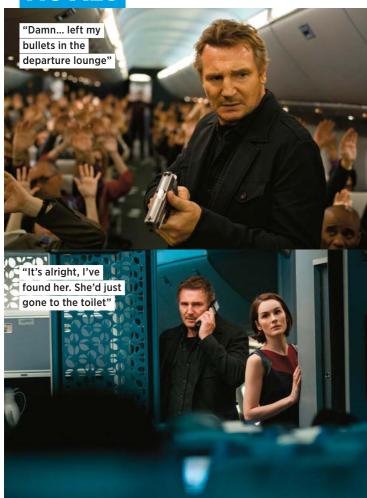

UNIVERSAL/HD • 9pm

This new US comedy drama starring Greg Kinnear is only average, but co-star Necar Zadegan certainly isn't! Get it on.

Loads of Deal or No Deal winners every we

Join us at Nuts Games and play the Deal or No Deal slot for a chance to win one of the mega-jackpots!

Unlike most multi-line slots, with Deal or No Deal you pick your coin size (bet amount), before the game begins. This way, you can be sure you're playing for the right Progressive Jackpot.

The coin size options will appear before the game begins. Play for 5p, 10p or 20p per line. Simply click on your chosen coin size and the game will begin! Play up to 20 lines each spin by choosing "Bet Max". This gives you the highest chance of winning as you've covered more line combinations than if you choose a single line.

GAMES

If the ringing phone stops your reels from spinning, you're guaranteed a win. But the banker's going to try and test your nerve.

He'll make a cash offer in exchange for the amount you'd win on the reels - and he only makes an offer if he knows you've got a win.

Choose Deal to accept his offer or No Deal to return to the reels and take your chances.

If you choose to accept the banker's offer you'll still see the result on the reels, just so you know how generous the banker was (or wasn't) being with his offer.

And finally, all that's left to do is get playing. Good luck!

Ladies, got a saucy secret you can't keep to yourself? Send your sexy story to our Lou!

MY NEW flatmate said she'd cook dinner one night so we could get to know each other. We had a few drinks over dinner and got on to the subject of sex. She asked me if I'd ever been with a woman and I was shocked to hear she did it regularly. I was really intrigued, so when she leant in to kiss me, I kissed her back. I felt my nipples go hard and a tingle down below. After a few seconds, she slipped her fingers inside me. As she used her tongue on me, I climaxed with an explosive orgasm just as our other flatmate walked in. Taking in the situation, he looked thrilled and asked for a threesome. We all ended up on the lounge floor until the early hours of the morning. Next week, she's cooking again!

O OUR SECRETARY!

Racy revelations from our female readers!

'We stripped off out back'

WE WERE at a strip club for my friend's hen do and I couldn't keep my eyes off one hunky stripper in particular. He tried to get the hen onstage to dance but she was too shy, so I volunteered. As I ground into him I could feel him getting harder, so asked him to meet me out the back after the show. Sure enough, he came out to meet me. I felt really horny and just had to have him. He took me hard against the wall and I couldn't stop myself screaming with pleasure. When I told my friends, none of them believed me!

'A couple watched us'

ONE AFTERNOON not too long ago, my fella and I drove into the Yorkshire Dales. We'd parked up in a quiet lay-by for a drink and a sarnie, and my man suggested we play a rude dare game. We're keen on masturbation and enjoyed showing off to each other, so we both went between his legs lifting and rubbing his shaft. My man spotted a couple watching us and they shared a grin. He signalled for them to come closer and be quiet. As I came up for air, I looked up to see them staring through the open window in disbelief. They ran off giggling, and I gave my man a playful slap, pretending to be cross, but secretly loving the impromptu dogging fun! Sara Leeds

'He laid me on the table'

MY BOYFRIEND and I had invited another couple around for dinner, and they were late. Dinner was ready, the table was laid, we were getting bored... and a little bit tipsy. They're the kind of couple who are less than shy about their sex life, so as we waited, we started joking about what they were up to. As our imaginations ran away with us, I caught my boyfriend's eye and realised he was getting as horny as I was. We started kissing, and I felt how hard he was as he pressed up against me. He threw me down on the table, sending plates flying as he thrust deep inside me. We both came in a matter of minutes – seconds before our friends arrived! Claire Manchester

Where's the best place you've had sex?

"In the cinema. Me and an ex-boyfriend went to see a late-night screening, and we were the only ones there. We snuck to the back-row seats and made the most of a very boring movie!"

Mhat's your trademark move in the bedroom?

"Definitely using my mouth and luscious lips. I have really big, sexy lips and I know how to use them."

What really turns you on? "I love a strong man who can pick me up, throw me over his shoulder and be really confident with me. That's very sexy. I also love my ears being nibbled, and being kissed all over my neck. Lush!"

What's your 4 favourite position?

"I actually have two! The first is missionary - I'm pretty oldschool in that respect, and love to feel a strong body next to me. It's the position where you can get really passionate and sweaty with each other.

being able to see my partner's happy face!"

5 Is it better to give or receive?

"Why is it one or the other? I think it's better to give... and then receive! I like to give first and receive afterwards, once I'm all excited."

What's the one thing you'd really like to try but haven't vet?

"I'd really like to try having sex on a plane. Cheeky, I know. I haven't got around to doing and would certainly make the flight go a bit quicker!"

What's the rudest thing you've ever done?

"I think sex in the cinema was pretty rude!"

Ever got it on with another girl?

"Me and an ex-boyfriend did experiment with another girl once, but you definitely have to feel comfortable with each other to enjoy something as intense as that."

CAPITAL ONE CUP SPECIAL!

Kompany: 'We don't want to look like fools!'

The City defender on the final and being captain!

Hi Vincent! Is the Capital One Cup final a bit of a distraction for you, bearing in mind your battles in Europe, the Premier League and the FA Cup?

Not at all. I said at the start of the season that we aim to win every game and win every tournament. We'll approach this like any other competition. We want trophies. This club has waited a long time to win something, so we owe it to the fans and ourselves to do the best we can in this. We're professionals at the end of the day.

You're strong favourites to lift the trophy against Sunderland...

Perhaps, but we'll lose if we don't play to our potential. Football has a funny way of making you look foolish if you lose your focus.

How much of a blow was the defeat against Barcelona in the first leg of your Champions League encounter last week?

It was a disappointment but it's not over. Enough has been said about the referee. We played well. They're a great team but we showed we're a great team too, who can match them. Let's see what happens at their place.

At times this season, Man City have blown teams away. What's the reason for this new freeflowing style?

The players, of course. We have so many offensive options in every position. When we play well, it's difficult for the opposition, naturally. At the same time, we're maybe more vulnerable if we don't perform well because we can have six or seven players going forward all the time. If we have the right mentality, we can make this approach work for us.

How do you mean?

We're impressive with the ball but with the attacking philosophy, we must always be hungry and work together to get it back. Possession is everything for us.

The squad seems much happier under new manager Manuel Pellegrini. Was the change in manager essential for Man City to move forward?

It was the decision of the club to change managers and, as players, it's our job to adjust and to take on board what the new person wants you to do. Thankfully, he's come in and had a good influence. He's very offensively minded and it suits our players. And of course, with winning games comes a good feeling. Team spirit is very high but that must come from the players, not just the management team.

What kind of bloke is Pellegrini?

He's a good guy. Very calm, very experienced, very encouraging. I enjoy playing under his coaching.

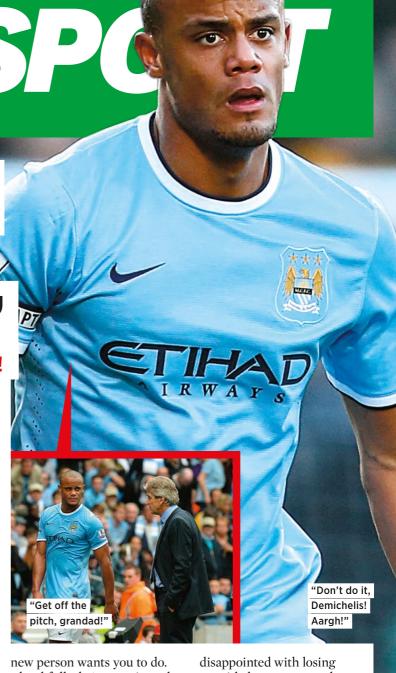

Can you win the Premier League this season?

Of course, but so can three or four other teams. We're very disappointed with losing our title last season so the motivation is there to try and make things better. That's what being at Manchester City is about now. You react positively, be a professional, go on, get better. Ambition is essential for a club like ours.

Does being captain mean as much as it has done in the past?

It's an honour. Football means so much to our fans and to the city in general. To be captain in such an important moment in the club's history really is an incredible privilege.

in a bit of a purple patch right now.

What's been the secret?

Confidence really means a hell of a lot. Last year was definitely a time to forget -I lost my way and couldn't see how I was going to get back to playing like I used to. Once you get into a bit of a spiral like that, it's so difficult to pull yourself up.

Was it that bad?

I was struggling, the team was struggling and frustration just got the better of me. It wasn't physical. I just couldn't get my head around why my form disappeared.

about it a bit...

I don't blame them. I came here desperate to do well and it didn't work out. Maybe I was trying too hard and reacted badly when things didn't go to plan. I can't explain what happened.

But now you're one of the country's most in-form players!

It's weird, because this has come out of the blue. I haven't really changed anything, I've still worked hard. I guess the experiences of last year have made me that bit tougher. I honestly go on the pitch now thinking I'm going to have a good game. It was exactly the opposite 12 months ago.

it to be to win the Capital One Cup?

Ask anyone – staying in the Premier League is the priority. But what an opportunity to reward the fans and win a trophy. It'll be a great day for everyone. We just have to make sure we do ourselves justice.

Talking of the Premier League, can you survive?

A couple of months ago, everyone had written us off. But now we're showing everyone that we're a decent team. I knew we could turn the corner. It'll probably go to the wire but I think we have enough to stay up.

Canio's reign as manager, how good a boss is Gus Poyet?

He's very positive and the team spirit is fantastic. There's still a long way to go in the season, but I believe he can take us on to bigger and better things.

Can you get back into the England reckoning?

I thought I was out of the picture but who knows? I was so proud to play for my country and I'm desperate to do it again. I'd love to get that phone call!

 The Capital One Cup final is on Sunday 2 March on Sky Sports 1/HD at 2pm.

Winter Olympic gurns rated!

Champion gurner Tommy Mattinson rates the best of Sochi's face pullers!

WITH THE Winter Olympics in Russia still fresh in the memory, the lasting impression we have isn't of gold medals being awarded, but of some of the odd faces we saw being pulled in Sochi. So, Nuts has enlisted the help of World Champion and world record-holding super-gurner Tommy Mattinson to pick out the best efforts...

upcoming fight, Nando's and Twitter trolls!

Hi James! How do you expect your fight with Gevorg

Khatchikian will go?

I'll be one step closer to a world title. No British boxer has won an Olympic gold medal and gone on to win a world title, so I'm looking forward to making history.

So you're in top shape for it?

We've always worked hard on my fitness. The guy I'm fighting is in decent shape but when I take him out, I'll be fighting world-level fighters. I'm ranked in the top ten with all the governing bodies. I'm ready to be a world champion.

Do you go for a massive meal after the weigh-in?

Yeah, after the weigh-in, I go straight to Nando's! I go in for the half chicken and double chips, then get chicken livers. That's been the routine for the last four years. On the day of the fight, I eat clean and good so I'm fresh for the bout.

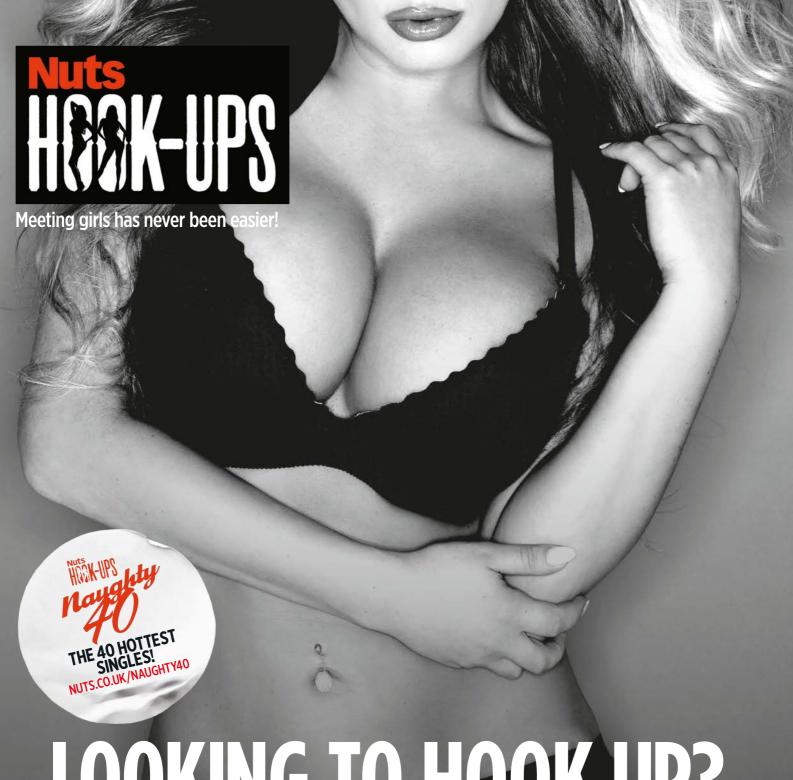

Do you get stick on Twitter? You get some idiots. If people see someone doing well, they're quick to try to bring them down. I don't give trolls the time of day.

Floyd Mayweather's the dream for any boxer, isn't he? You can make millions...

I've heard figures up to £12million for Amir Khan, so I hope he gets it. You've not got a long time in this sport, so if offers like that come your way, you've got to take them.

Thanks for the chat, James! Finally, do you wear your title belts around the house? Nah! I've got a wall with all my belts and medals on. I don't want to be a show-off, wearing it out shopping!

 James DeGale vs Gevorg Khatchikian is at the City Academy, Bristol, on 1 March ahead of his WBC sanctioned final eliminator against Badou Jack. Tickets from £35, 0117 949 66 99.

LOOKING TO HOOK UP?

Hundreds of girls are waiting to meet you in your area. Take a look at some of our members' stories and try it for yourself! No strings attached...

"As a girl, I've had the most amazing time meeting boys from the site. It's great fun and exactly what I was looking for. Some no-strings fun, whenever I want it!"

"I just wanted to see what it was all about and signed up, thinking I'd only stick around for a month or so but three months on and I'm very happy with how it's gone - I'm not going anywhere!" "I've met loads of girls, and they're not shy! I think I'll be here for a little while longer yet - I just had no idea that there were so many girls right on my doorstep!"

Red cards Lange games!

English teams need 11 players on the pitch!

BECAUSE OF the rules, if you deny a goal-scoring opportunity with a foul, you'll be sent off. With a defender, that's justified, but for keepers it's harsh that they have to walk as they're the last line of defence.

People will say the better teams won on the night against Man City and Arsenal, but in the Arsenal game especially, there was only one team in it for the first 20 minutes. In the Man City game, it was slightly different as I think Manuel Pellegrini got his tactics a little wrong.

Even so, why didn't Martin Demichelis let Joe Hart have the chance to make a save rather than bring the man down? But it was Messi on the ball – he tends to make anyone trying to tackle him look daft!

Email firings don't shock me!

THERE WAS a general outcry when we found out that Michael Laudrup had been sacked as Swansea manager by email, but that's a sign of the times we live in.

People don't just use the phone to tell people bad news like this – most owners just give the orders to their managing directors to pass on the information.

When organising for guests on Goals On Sunday, I only ever send text messages, and that only involves good news!

League Cup is still a spectacle!

I CAN'T wait for the big game coming up at Wembley. It's going to be a special day for the fans and players. People say the Capital One Cup isn't as important as the Premier League or FA Cup, but a winner's medal's still fantastic.

Man City and Sunderland fans have both sold out their allocation and the world expects City to take home the trophy, but just remember what happened with Wigan in the FA Cup. It's a one-off – it's about who's best on the day, and the big occasions can even get to a club as wealthy as City!

Pub ammo on... Walkers Crisps

- Walkers factories in the UK go through about 1,000 tonnes of potatoes every day to make their crisps.
- The main potato types used in their creation are Lady
- Rosetta, Brooke, Shelford, Arsenal, Saturna, Hermes, VR-808 and Lady Claire. All the classics, basically.
- Walkers employ a chef to create normal dishes, which
- are then converted into crisp flavours.
- Walkers' Do Us A Flavour comp runs until 5 March.
